The Honourable Scott Moe, E.C.S., M.L.A.
Premier of Saskatchewan
Room 226 Legislative Building
REGINA SK S4S 0B3

Dear Premier Moe,

RE: Crisis in Saskatchewan's health care system

On behalf of the 28,000 health care workers represented by Service Employees International Union (SEIU-West), Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE), and Saskatchewan Government and General Employees' Union (SGEU), we are calling on you to keep your word and meaningfully address the crisis in Saskatchewan's health care system.

After the last general election voters sent a clear message that they were frustrated with the state of health care in Saskatchewan. You claimed to have heard them and committed to doing better. Now, nearly a year after that commitment, we have seen no improvements to either health care system or support for the hard-working health care providers who run it.

In case you have forgotten, here is the message – health care workers are at a breaking point. Short staffing is leading to facility closures in every corner of the province. Health care workers are leaving the profession and not coming back. Stalled bargaining, where your government is trying to strip away the rights of health care workers, is deepening the retention crisis. And patients and residents are paying the price.

Together, united in our efforts, we will continue to hold you to your word and fight for what health care workers deserve.

Sincerely,

Bashir Jalloh
